Syllabus changes for the Fall 2022

Group and Health FSA Exams:

Every season I make updates to our materials to incorporate anything that was tested in the most recent exam. Each exam season I also fine tune content through out the syllabus to incorporate and explain/clarify difficult concepts. My interactions at seminars and via email always continue to further my understanding of the syllabus, and I share that knowledge with updated content each season. My intension is to continually bring you all my latest and greatest content. I know how important each and every exam is for you, and I do my best to have a continuous practice of product improvement that matches that level of commitment that each of you put forth. Also any SOA directed syllabus changes are always added, and those specifics for fall 2022 are described below for each Group Health exam.

Design & Pricing – There were no changes to the DP syllabus from last season.

Finance & Valuation – There were several changes made to the FV syllabus for the Fall 2022 exam.
